Gloria Bergfors—Coasting Victim

Winter's Tragedy —Bundled warm against the cold, Gloria Bergfors, 3, saw only happiness ahead as she dashed out of her Squantum home . . . to go sliding on the lawn. But Death guided the runners . . . and she plunged over a wall into Quincy bay. Her mother, working in the house, felt a sudden fear . . . and ran out. Throwing herself into the water, she clutched the girl's body . . . too late.

'People Have the Right To Know,' Say Critics

THE WAR CRISIS:

While Washington rocked with demands that secrecy be ripped from the administration's foreign policy, cabled reports from England told of a development which may change world history: That President Roosevelt has "tacitly agreed" to a three-way war pact, involving the United States, France and Great Britain. (See Hillman story, Page 14.)

Britain registered complacency. The French press praised the President and his "helpful policy." The German press raged.

Members of both parties in Senate demand Roosevelt clarify the country's stand on its foreign policy.

By ARTHUR HACHTEN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2—President Roosevelt was called upon today by Republican and Democratic members of the Senate to "clarify" U. S. foreign policy in an open statement to Congress and the country.

Developments in the American preparedness program and the extension of help to Europe's democracies in their drive to rearm against the dictators, came swiftly in the President's own cabinet and on Capitol Hill.

Senators Vandenberg (R.) of Michigan, often mentioned as a presidential possibility, and McCarran (D.) of Nevada, were outspoken in their insistence that "the people have a right to know what is going on."

The drive to "lift the lid" on the nations foreign policy was pressed with vigor by the Republican minority after an historic Senate debate in which demands were made that the "people be told if they are being led down the road to war."

Outstanding developments included:

WARNING BY WALSH

Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau said he welcomed a congressional inquiry into operation of the secret two-billion dollar foreign exchange stabilization fund, and denied emphatically the fund was used to help European democracies buy arms.

Declaration by Senator David I. Walsh that the present propaganda is similar to that which led us into war in 1917.

The President conferred with the House appropriations subcommittee, which is handling projected funds for expansion of the army. After an hour's session at the White House, Representative Taylor (D.) of Colorado, chairman of the full appropriations committee, said: "We were just talking over technical details as to the general situation in world affairs and what this committee is considering."

Secretary of the Interior Ickes, the cabinet's warmest critic of the European dictators, said that he did not believe this country would go to war "under this administration." He was commenting upon a speech by former President Hoover warning of a drift to war under Roosevelt. Ickes, a target of an attack by Hitler in his recent address, refused to comment upon it. He said: "I'm a man of peace."

AIM AT SECRET HEARINGS

Enough votes to open hearings of the Senate military affairs committee were claimed by Republican members.

At a meeting tomorrow this group will attempt to force the committee to end secret hearings and make public testimony that already has been taken behind closed doors. This testimony would exclude that relating to strictly military secrets.

In his press conference today, Secretary of the Treasury Morgen-

Move to Probe Dwyer, Carroll Cases Killed

AUGUSTA, Me., Feb. 2—An attempt to investigate the murder convictions of Paul N. Dwyer and ex-Deputy Sheriff Francis M. Carroll of South Paris, one the former sweetheart, the other father, of pretty Barbara Carroll, failed today.

An order for appointment of a legislative committee to inquire into all circumstances surrounding the slaying of Dr. and Mrs. James G. Littlefield, introduced in the legislature by Senator Ralph L. Morse of Belfast, was tabled.

Both Dwyer and Carroll are serving life terms for murder of Dr. Littlefield.

Barbara's name was injected into both convictions.

First, Dwyer was said to have killed Dr. Littlefield because of something concerning her, and later her father was said to have done the killing because the doctor allegedly had heard "stories" about the girl which Carroll resented.

$2500 BAIL FOR 2 'GAY FLING' BOYS

They dined at Jack Dempsey's and paid $16.50 each to see Joe Louis belt John Henry Lewis into a wavering hulk in less than one round . . . today they are held in Charles street jail, their bail $2500 each, awaiting trial in superior court.

"Was it worth it?"

George E. Derome of Saratoga street and John Enos of Marion street, both East Boston, 18-year-old messenger boys, smiled wryly when they were asked that question today.

ALREADY ON PROBATION

They appeared today before Judge John Duff in Boston municipal court, Derome charged with larceny and Enos with accessory. Their attorney, Wilbur Hollingsworth, pleaded Derome not guilty, and Judge Duff declined jurisdiction.

Sergeant John Dunleavy testified Derome was on probation for assault with intent to rob in connection with the attempted theft of a handbag some time ago.

Dunleavy said Derome disappeared January 24 at the same time that $32,254 was missed from the accounts of the F. L. Putnam Company.

TEMPTED BY MONEY

When he was picked up in New York Saturday Derome told police:

"There I was with all that money, and the temptation was too much. I tossed the securities ($31,000 worth) behind a radiator in the building and took a tunnel train to East Boston where I picked up Enos.

"I told him what I had done and we went to New York. We took a room on West 24th street and paid $12, two weeks in advance.

ROBBED BY GIRLS

"I bought a new hat every day. We went to the fight, but we didn't even have time to eat our candy before it was over. We went riding in Central Park, and we went to the movies twice a day.

"We met a couple of girls in Times Square, and we went out with them."

The happy young romance ended when they found the girls had picked their pockets of $181 and left them flat.

They couldn't pay a bar bill, because they had but 60 cents between them so the bartender, in the immemorial fashion of bartenders, called the cops, and all was up.

Mothers of both youths were in court today. Mrs. Derome, who has announced she will stand by her son, wept when she saw him but smiled a little when she went to the detention pen to greet him for the first time since he left.

HARTFORD, Conn., Feb. 2 (AP)—Dr. and Mrs. Thomas N. Hepburn, parents of Katharine Hepburn, the movie star, announced today the engagement of their daughter, Miss Marion Houghton Hepburn to Ellsworth Strong Grant of West Hartford.

Mother's Heroism in Vain

Baby Girl Coasts To Death in Bay

Hurtled into Quincy Bay when she coasted over a six-foot sea wall, three-year-old Gloria Bergfors of Sycamore road, Squantum, met death today, despite the frantic efforts of her mother, who leaped into the icy water after her baby.

Stunned by hitting her forehead against sled or sea-wall, the little girl drowned, Associate Medical Examiner George V. Higgins found.

An inhalator squad commanded by Deputy Fire Chief Peter Creedon worked an hour and a half over the child before she was pronounced dead.

The accident happened just outside the Bergfors home, which is on the water's edge. A lawn at the side of the house slopes down to a six-foot wall, at the bottom of which lies Quincy Bay.

MOTHER'S DISCOVERY

While the other three children in the family were at school, little Gloria was allowed out of doors to coast.

Working in the house, Mrs. Margaret Bergfors suddenly realized she had not heard the youngster for 10 minutes.

She ran out and saw the sled-tracks in the snow, led down to and over the top of the sea wall.

She screamed and ran to the wall. Below, lying face down in the water, was Gloria, and a short distance away the sled floated.

Without an instant's hesitation Mrs. Bergfors leaped from the wall into the icy water.

Her screams had attracted Joseph Will, a neighbor on Sycamore road, who ran to the seawall just as Mrs. Bergfors picked up her daughter.

The mother handed the child up to Will, who ran with it into the Bergfors home. Mrs. Bergfors scrambled out and followed.

Will called police and firemen, and Dr. Edward Fentin.

Dr. Fentin found a bad cut on the child's head as firemen set up their inhalator.

Gloria's father, Fred, vice-president and treasurer of the Quincy Oil Company, was notified and hurried home.

After a struggle of an hour and

FORTUNE TO WIDOW—Prince Serge Mdivani upset "taking" tradition of marrying Mdivanis when he left quarter of a million to his third bride, the former Louise Astor Van Alen of Newport. Will was written shortly before his death on Florida polo field.

Slain Woman Strangled, Her Body Slashed

WORCESTER, Feb. 2 (AP)—Clothed only in a slip, overcoat and rubbers, Mrs. Martha Anderson, 40, today was slain by strangulation, her body disfigured by slashes inflicted with a beer can opener.

Her body was found in her third-floor room in a Myrtle street lodging house.

Medical Examiner John C. Ward said the woman, formerly known as Peggy Anderson, employe of a Worcester studio, had been strangled to death and that there were two long gashes on her abdomen. The beer can opener was found in the room.

PRINTS ON THROAT

Dr. Ward said the woman's discolored throat bore the prints of strong fingers.

Police immediately began questioning other roomers in the building and said they learned from the landlady, Mrs. Delie Sweeney, that Mrs. Anderson was about to be evicted from her room for non-payment of rent. She had lived at the house since July.

Mrs. Anderson had been separated from her husband, George, for some time, police reported. They sought him for questioning.

LANDLADY FINDS BODY

A 21-year-old son of the victim told authorities he saw his mother about 9 p. m. last night leaving a restaurant.

Mrs. Sweeney said she last saw Mrs. Anderson at 11 p. m. when she left the rooming house.

The landlady discovered the body lying across the bed. The window in the room was locked but police said a person could have left the third floor by way of a piazza door without coming down inside the house.

'Guilty' Plea By Brulatour

NEW YORK, Feb. 2 (AP)—Jules Brulatour, millionaire film manufacturer and husband of Hope Hampton, actress, pleaded guilty through his lawyer today to violating the anti-firearms law.

The three special sessions justices who received the plea from Atty. Max Steuer, set Feb. 10 for sentence.

MDIVANI'S RICHES WILLED 3RD BRIDE

They called him the kind of a husband who always took and never gave.

He was one of the "marrying Mdivanis"—and aristocratic Newport eyebrows were raised ironically when the former Louise Astor Van Alen, darling of the smart summer colony's younger set, became his third American bride.

But today, prosaic, unromantic federal tax bureau records revealed the fact that handsome, debonair, "ladies-man" Prince Serge Mdivani left his girlish Newport widow almost a quarter of a million good American dollars.

According to a will he drew up just before his untimely death on a Florida polo field in 1936, Louise Astor Van Alen Mdivani was to get one-half of his estate.

Tax appraisal figures made public today showed that the estate amounted to a gross total of $630,966.

The net total, after necessary deductions, remained $478,831.

Friends on two continents assumed young Mrs. Mdivani, daughter of an old and wealthy Newport family with Astor and Vanderbilt connections, was probably not concerned with purely material aspects of her legacy from her husband.

Yet those closest to the widow expected her to be greatly pleased by public recognition of the fact that Prince Serge Mdivani was able, anxious, to make generous provision for her.

Her devotion to the memory of the broad-shouldered, boyish Georgian nobleman she took after his two previous American marriages,

Love Story of Clark, Carole

Hollywood's favorite romance, the love-story of Clark Gable and Carole Lombard, is to come to its climax with their marriage on March 1. In the first installment of this, the inside story of their wooing, was told how a practical joke made them realize that they really cared for one another, and how they became inseparable.

Here are further episodes in their light-hearted love affair, which, for two years, has kept Hollywood amused and interested.

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 2—Clark Gable and Carole Lombard came to success in Hollywood the hard way . . .

For five years he tramped the weary road of a $7.50-a-day extra, and finally gave up, left Hollywood and went to New York, where he got a job on the stage.

She was a Mack Sennett bathing beauty—one who could really swim, for a change—and came to stardom by gradual advancements through evening-gown extra parts, ingenue roles and featured parts.

No others have been more successful. Gable is probably the highest paid male star in pictures and, with Shirley Temple, shares the honor of having the greatest box office draw. Miss Lombard earned $467,000 in 1937, to top the industry.

They were both in Hollywood for years before, suddenly, they knew that they cared. That was two years ago, and the realization dawned upon them when she, for a gag, sent him an ancient jaloppy, painted white, with dripping red hearts on each door, for a St. Valentine's Day gift.

CAROLE LOMBARD
Pups Clark's Gifts

Since then they have been inseparable, and their gay adventurings together have been the talk of Hollywood.

Which brings us to the Adventure of the Bearded Men.

Gable was cast in the name role of "Parnell," the picturization of the career of the great Irish patriot, and was told, when getting ready for the picture-making that he would have to grow a beard. That tickled Carole—figuratively, of course, and impishly she determined to do something about it. Besides, no matter what history dictated, or what the studio heads had to say about it, she had made up her mind that Gable in a beard simply wouldn't go.

So Gable still grumbling about it, they started out one evening to have dinner.

He might have become suspicious when she insisted that they go to Groundhog In! Spring Near?

Snow flurries and a little higher temperatures are in prospect, the weatherman said today.

Furthermore, he added, he doubts if the groundhog will see his shadow this afternoon.

According to legend, a shadow would mean six weeks more of winter; no shadow means spring is just around the corner. Officially of course, the weatherman takes no cognizance of this omen.

CALL SECRET RACE MEETING

A special meeting of the state racing commission, the purpose of which was kept secret, was called today by Chairman Charles F. Connors.

It was reported the commission would discuss the hearing to be held Monday on proposed revocation of dates already awarded Outdoor Advertising, Inc., for racing at an as-yet unbuilt track in Westport.

The new track was awarded dates, including July 4, reported to be the best day in the year, over the protest of Governor-elect Saltonstall, who removed two members of the commission.

DOWNS SEEKS CHANGE

Attorney-General Paul A. Dever has ruled that the new commission can revoke the dates issued by the old one, but suggested a public hearing.

Interests which operate the Suffolk Downs track will ask revision of their dates.

On the dog racing front, Huntington R. "Tack" Hardwick denounced reports of a "slush" fund raised to put over the the Readville dog track.

WELCOMES INQUIRY

He said:

"These stories are evidently inspired by persons whose interests will be served by delay. The Readville Hound Racing Association will welcome a prompt and thorough inquiry."

Mayor Tobin postponed action on the Readville dog track permit on request of the Boston Finance Commission, which said it had heard "many stories of improprieties."

The city council approved the petition.

Projected dog racing at Wareham, to be conducted by the Cape Cod Kennel Club, was also encountering difficulties.

Mine Fire Burns Under Dwelling

CARMICHAELS, Pa., Feb. 2 (AP)—A crew of more than 100 experienced mine bosses fought a fire today deep in the mine of the Buckeye Coal Company and almost directly under this western Pennsylvania village. Engineers estimated the fire was directly beneath the home of Arthur Riffle.

Hit Fin Com Stand on Dog Track

At least "one member of the Boston Finance Commission" has been in the pay of the Readville Greyhound Association it was charged today as dissension within the commission itself broke out on the question of investigating a permit for a dog track in Readville.

Signed by the secretary of the commission, a letter had been sent to Mayor Tobin requesting that he defer action on the dog track permit until the commission could investigate "improprieties" of the affair that had "officially been brought to its attention."

It was revealed today that a hasty and special meeting of the commission had been immediately called.

Differences of opinion broke out in the board when certain members complained bitterly that they had not known of the letter that was sent to Tobin asking the delay, it was said.

SCORE OF HUB 'DIPLOMA MILLS' FACING PROBE

At least six private industrial schools, offering training in everything from fashion designing and X-ray technique to television broadcasting and motor engineering, are already under fire, and investigations into the management of a score more institutions were promised at the attorney general's office today.

DISSATISFIED with conditions at a Back Bay X-ray school, which is now being probed by the attorney-general's office, Muriel Ort, left, and Ann Nugent have quit as pupils. Several of the students have demanded a refund of their tuition money.

Immediately concerned with a Back Bay school of fashion design where young women, allegedly, were taught dress designing for $500 tuition with the promise of $35 a week jobs on graduation, Assistant Attorney-General Maurice M. Goldman announced he was going to New York to check back records of certain of the schools and their owners.

Chief Postal Inspector John J. Breslin also announced that he was holding his own inquiry into the matter to determine whether false promises had been made in school catalogues sent through the mail.

MOTHER EARNED TUITION

Pretty 19-year-old Mildred Cafferelli of Washington street, Quincy, told Goldman that she entered the school after graduating from Quincy high in 1937, and that she represents 10 other pupils as well as herself.

"My mother went to work in a dress factory to pay the tuition," she said. "After I'd been there a while I found some of the other students had paid $300, or $250, or nothing at all.

"One girl promised to pay when she got her job.

"We had to pay for all our paper and materials, too, and then we were taught nothing. We went to a New York manufacturer and and he told us he would pay only $15 a week because we didn't know anything. The school head had taught us nothing.

"We found she was selling the sketches we made in New York, and selling the dress models we made up—worth anywhere from $50 to $100 each."

NO MODELS AT SCHOOL

Miss Cafferelli said there were no models at the school—as promised—sometimes even no teachers and no classes. Her affidavits were turned over to Lieutenant Frank Hale of the state police for investigation, and the school head and her attorney were scheduled to appear before him.

At the same time, the Boston Institute of Laboratory and X-ray Technique, whose affairs led to the opening of the probe, was still holding classes today.

It has been given until tomorrow to reorganize by Attorney General Dever.

Goldman said Dever was making plans to file a bill with the legislature that would establish and reform laws to provide stricter control of such schools.

PROBE OTHER SCHOOLS

"We are looking into a television school," Goldman said, "that promised jobs to its students they never get. We find its operator has a criminal record and at one time was an oil stock promoter.

"We are going to investigate a Back Bay school in which the instructors were no more than poorly-paid mechanics who often didn't know as much as the students.

"In the mail today alone we got 25 complaints of such schools that Hale and myself will investigate."

Quads Make Texas Four-Star State

GALVESTON, Tex., Feb. 2—Texas, which soon may be nicknamed the "Quadruplet State," today boasted its second set of four children, the tiny Badgett sisters, who are strong and striving.

They are Joyce, 3 pounds 13 ounces; Jeanette, 3 pounds 14 ounces; Joan, 3 pounds 14 ounces, and Geraldine, 4 pounrs, 9½ ounces, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Badgett.

How to tell the tiny girls apart was but one of the perplexing problems which confronted the half-stunned father today.

Only a few hours earlier he arrived in a rush from Louisiana, where he works as a construction foreman, and was greeted with the news that Mrs. Badgett had just given birth to quadruplets.

Flabbergasted at the event, which suddenly made his family one of the foremost in the eyes of the nation, the father gasped:

"I don't know what to say—this never happened to me before!"

BRAWL VICTIM DIES

Five days after he was injured in a brawl near a Charlestown cafe, Dennis Dacey, 31, of Beach street, Charlestown, died today of a fractured skull.

'Cat Burglar' Suspect Held

Frederick J. Strasseur, 22, of Brighton street, Charlestown, alleged "cat burglar," was held in Charlestown court today in $2700 bail for the grand jury on seven charges of breaking and entering, plus two larceny charges.

The youth pleaded not guilty to all charges.

He had nothing to say about the exploits which police claimed he related when arrested.

According to police, Strasseur boasted of trapeze technique which made it possible for him to enter and rob 25 places, using rope and rain spouts as equipment.

He collected a total loot of $1500. His arrest was brought about by a girl to whom he boasted of his alleged acts.

Search Is Pushed for Roxbury Bandit Pair

Aided by descriptions offered by a drugstore proprietor and his customer, police today were pushing the hunt for a pair of bandits who escaped after a $30 holdup in Spring street, West Roxbury.

David J. Byrne, pharmacist, was locked in the backroom of his store by the thugs, one of them armed, while Frederick A. Durward of Centre street, West Roxbury, was forced into the cellar after he had proffered an empty wallet.

Beware Measles, Parents Warned

After an overnight report of an increase in measles cases—chiefly from South Boston, Charlestown and the West End—Deputy Health Commissioner Frederick J. Bailey today warned parents to take precautions with their children.

He directed that healthy children be kept away from those with measles or suspected of having measles. The disease itself is not serious, but sometimes has serious after-effects.

Today's list includes 103 cases, of which 42 are in South Boston, 24 in the West End, and 27 in Charlestown. This is the largest list for a single day in several years.

A normal list would include 50 to 60 cases, spread evenly over the entire city.

MOTHER HEROINE IN FIRE RESCUES

WARWICK, R. I., Feb. 2—In a close duplication of yesterday's near-tragedy in this town, a mother, awakened today in a flaming dwelling by a youngster's cries, lowered two daughters from a porch roof, and then jumped herself.

Her husband and two sons slid down a drainpipe and a year-old baby was carried out of the house by neighbors.

The mother, Mrs. Angelo Zuckaro, 38, injured her left ankle when she leaped, despite efforts of neighbors to break her fall.

The house, a double two-story frame building in Woodbury avenue, Conimicut, was badly damaged.

LEAPS TO SAFETY

The fire was discovered by Clarence Jordan, Jr., who lived in the other half of the house. His cries and those of his mother awakened Mrs. Zuckaro.

She ran to a window with her daughters, Dolores, eight, and Shirley Ann, four. They climber out to a porch roof, and Mrs. Zuckaro dropped the little girls to the arms of neighbors. Then she jomped.

Zuckaro and two sons, James Jr., 16, and Joseph, 15, clutched a drain pipe near their bedroom window and slid to safety.

Joan, 1, was cut from off from the others in her crib on the first floor. Mrs. Zuckaro shoted to neighbors where they could find the baby and they rescued the child.

The Jordans were able to leave their side of the house safely before flames broke throu?h.

Film-Radio War One Man Fight

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 2 (AP)—If the tarring of Tyrone Power from the air means that Producer Darryl F. Zanuck wants the movies to start a war with radio, it appeared today that he will have to do most of the fighting.

Little support was forthcoming elsewhere in Hollywood for the 20th Century-Fox head's opinion that radio hurts movie acters at the box office.

A spokesman for Zanuck called the producer's action the "opening gun" which might lead to the withdrawal of other Fox stars from radio.

Like the studios, officials of networks declined public pronouncements.

Radio sources pointed out that many outstanding film personalities started on the air, that Power's radio rating has never been particularly high, and that, in some instances, notably that of Dorothy Lamour, film figures are under contract to a network and borrowed by studios for pictures.

Zanuck's action, announced yesterday, will remove his super-star after next Sunday from a dramatic program on which he has been appearing.

Rank First Lady As Best Tipper

NEW YORK, Feb. 2 (AP)—Railway dining car workers gave the palm today to Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt—as the most generous tipper among women patrons.

Members of the Dining Car Employes Union voted Morton Downey, the singer, as the most liberal tipper among entertainers.

They nominated Postmaster-General James A. Farley in the political world, Grover A. Whalen in business, Jack Dempsey in sports and Cornelius Vanderbilt, Jr., in society.

The vote disclosed the average man tips 25 cents, the average woman 15 cents.

Boy, 11, Pleads For Bicycle Law

Probably the youngest speaker ever to address a legislative hearing at the State House, 11-year-old Joseph Magsamen of Reboboth today urged passage of a bill to reduce bicycle hazards and discourage bicycle thefts.

ACCUSER — Frances N. Sawicki of South End appears in municipal court and charges Bernard McDonald, 45, stole $3.12 from her handbag in restaurant. He appealed a year's sentence.

Boston Evening American Photos

The boy, mascot of American Legion posts of Bristol county, has spoken before a number of legion posts and auxiliaries. Appearing before the committee on highways and motor vehicles, he wore his little legion uniform.

"I appear before this committee," he said, "in the interests of thousands of boys and girls of the Commonwealth, and in the name of humanity itself.

"Registration of bicycles should be made compulsory. The problem is plain. Every boy and girl is proud to own a bicycle, and probably they love their bicicles as much or more than they love their dogs.

"When a child buys a bicycle, it is hard for his heartstrings when the bicycle is stolen.

"When a working boy, such as a messenger or newsboy, loses a bicycle, it is doubly hard, because he needs his bicycle in his work. Sometimes, also, he is paying on the installment plan, and has to keep up the payments.

"Often there is no way of identifie the stolen property, and recovery is almost impossible. Legislation would help this situation."

A crowd apparently got a "kick" out of listening to the youngster, and applauded him warmly.

Suspect Held In Cafe Theft

Despite the presence of two police officers in a nearby booth, her handbag was rifled of $3.12 while she was having a friendly cup of coffee with two men acquaintances in a Washington street, South End cafe, Frances N. Sawicki, pretty blonde waitress charged today in municipal court.

One of the acquaintances, Bernard McDonald, 45, of Union Park street, South End, was found guilty of larceny of the money and sentenced to one year in jail by Judge John Duff. He appealed.

Miss Sawicki, who lives in Worcester square, testified that McDonald and his friend called her over to their booth. A few minutes later she said she found her handbag was missing.

It was later found under McDonald's chair, the money gone, it was testified.

Police Officers Arthur E. O'Connor and Patrick McDonald, who took McDonald to headquarters, said search of McDonald's pockets produced $3.70.

Number Please?

HAVERHILL, Feb. 2—"When you can't find out your own telephone number, its time to do something," declared Charles A. F. McAree, new work relief head here, as he ordered the instrument on his desk removed.

Why They Didn't Bathe

JERSEY CITY, N. J., Feb. 2 (INS)—Edward Thompson, 26, was making apologies all around today to others at his rooming house.

Soothed by the warm water, he fell so deeply asleep in the filled bathtub behind locked doors that other impatient roomers summoned a hook and ladder company. Fire Captain James Flynn, on a 20-foot ladder, broke the bathroom window and awakened Thompson.

Downey Ousts 7 Appointees By Reardon

Seven employes of the department of education have been dropped by newly-appointed Commissioner Walter F. Downey, it was announced at the State House today.

Downey said the discharges were the result of an investigation made by him, which showed that the seven jobs were "unnecessary."

Two of the seven men were permanent workers; the others were employed on three-months appointments.

All were appointees of James G. Reardon, removed from office by Governor Saltonstall. They were all given 30-days notice.

The discharged workers were not given any hope of being rehired.

OUSTS NEW APPOINTEE

Explaining that the work of the division of university extension, in which they were employed, fluctuates, Downey said that if additional help is needed at any time, $900 clerks from the civil service list can perform the same duties.

The discharged permanent employes are Joseph V. Healy of Willow street, being paid $1560, in the department since 1936, and Joseph Miller, Columbia road, Dorchester, $1440, appointed January 3.

DEAN UNDER FIRE

The temporary employes, all paid $1620, are William F. Duffy, Taunton; Maxwell Shaw, Roxbury; Arthur Tuohy, Arlington; Charles Flannery, Concord, and Edna Granitsas, Marlboro, a member of the school committee of that city.

All except Miss Granitsas were appointed in the closing days of the Hurley administration by Reardon.

Also being considered at the State House today was a sweeping reorganization of the department of conservation, which may oust Curley-appointed Commissioner Ernest J. Dean and his three division heads.

Police Hunt Son Of Wage Chief

SPRINGFIELD, Feb. 2—Search for William Andrews, 19, son of Elmer F. Andrews, federal wage-hour administrator, centered in this city today following the youth's mysterious disappearance from the University of Pennsylvania campus.

Young Andrews, a freshman at Wharton School of Finance and Commerce in the Pennsylvania college, left his dormitory during the past week-end. He left a note addressed to his father in which he declared he was tired of school and was going to get a job.

Friends of the student said the note contained a line to the effect that "I will never see father and mother again." This was not confirmed by the university, however.

Administrator Andrews stated he was not concerned over his son's disappearance.

New York police, notified to locate the youth, missed him by an hour. They were told by friends he had gone to Springfield to visit friends. Springfield police have so far been unable to locate Andrews.

THREATENED — George Ashe, representative from Lowell, today was irked by senders of threatening letters

Rep. Ashe Turns Death Note Over To Postal Agents

At the request of American Legion officials, Representative George T. Ashe of Lowell today turned over to postal inspectors a letter threatening him with death if he continued to fight civil service preference for veterans.

The legion officers said they believed the note was sent by a crank, but that he should be punished, whoever he is.

Defying the threat, Ashe intensified his drive to repeal or modify the preference laws.

In all, he said he has received a dozen "poison pen" letters, threatening harm not only to himself, but to his widowed mother and sister, since he began his attack on veterans' preference laws.

Don't Snowball Any Owls!

WALLAGRASS, Me., Feb. 2 (AP)—Alberic Ouellette, 16, a woodsman, told today how he all but paid with his eyes to learn an owl doesn't like snowballs.

Cutting wood with his brother and their employer, W. H. Cunliffe, Jr., they came upon the owl. Alberic tossed a snowball.

The bird swooped down on him, dug its talons in his face and barely missed gouging out his eyes.

Cunliffe and Alberic's brother finally routed the bird.

Newton School Teachers' Pay Boost Delayed

More than 140 Newton school teachers opened their monthly pay envelopes today and discovered somebody had forgot to include the yearly automatic increase.

But Daniel A. White, comptroller of accounts, said it wasn't a matter of forgetting at all, simply a matter of the new state law prohibiting a city to make salary increases until the board of aldermen passes the annual budget.

The Newton aldermen won't get around to the budget until April, but Comptroller White said:

"The bill is retroactive. As soon as the board approves the increase each employe of the Newton school department will receive the automatic increase from January."

5 Lawyers Face Hub Disbarment

Disbarment proceedings against five Boston lawyers have been voted by the grievance committee of the Boston Bar Association, the Boston Evening American learned today.

The committee will ask the association at its next meeting to approve filing of complaints in court against the five attorneys.

Three of the men in question are members of the Massachusetts bar who have committed no offense here, but have been disbarred in other states.

The committee believes Massachusetts should honor the disbarment order of a sister state.

The other two have been charged by clients with failing to pay over money received by them in settlement of cases.

The grievance committee is still investigating "ambulance chasing" complaints against a number of lawyers accused of activity at the Boston City Hospital.

Harvard Youth Tests Auto Law

One of the fine points of law developed today when Edward S. Underwood, 29, Harvard graduate student an assistant squash coach, appeared in East Cambridge district court.

Police charged Underwood, who lives in Agassiz street, Cambridge, with operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of liquor.

Underwood's car was parked in Coolidge avenue, they admitted, at the time of the complaint.

The motor was running, however, police charged, and that is the point at issue.

Underwood pleaded not guilty and asked for a continuance.

Judge Robert Walcott set February 10 as the hearing date.

Mrs. Sidley's Will Admitted to Probate

RACINE, Wis., Feb. 2 (AP)—Judge J. Allan Simpson today admitted to probate the will of Mrs. Maybelle Horlick Sidley, ending a court fight involving a share of the Horlick malted milk millions.

William Horlick Sidley, only son of the malted milk heiress, had attempted to break the will on the ground that his mother had been unduly influenced by W. Perkins Bull, Toronto barrister, one of the beneficiaries. Mrs. Sidley died last July in Bull's home.

SUICIDE OF TELLER PUZZLE TO POLICE

WORCESTER, Feb. 2—Police sought today to determine why an eminently respectable banker, in good health, and with no obvious peculations traceable in his accounts should leave home mysteriously and then, almost twenty-four hours later, blow out his brains.

All usual theories have failed to make sense in the investigation so far into the suicide of Clarence D. Cole, 38, bank teller and father of four children, who, apparently, shot himself to death with a rifle in his automobile, parked on a lonely road near Sterling.

Mrs. Cole is sequestered in the Cole home, 12 Nevada street, with the children, Charles, 15; Alton, 14; Frederick, 10, and Joanne, 4.

That he may have contemplated suicide for some time, however, was indicated by the purchase of the rifle January 17, for which he paid $4.58, for no apparent use.

The body was found by Stephen C. Doyle of 95 Edmonds street, Woonsocket, R. I.

100 Driven Out In Dorchester By $7000 Fire

Smoke and flames drove 100 persons, including more than a dozen small children, into snow-filled streets early today from a Wilder street, Dorchester, apartment building.

Responding to a double-alarm, firemen found sheets of flame bursting from windows on all three floors of the building. Total damage was estimated at $7000 by District Chief Daniel J. Hurley.

Dense smoke rolled through the corridors and fire cut off all attempts of occupants to escape by the rear exit, but entire families raced the length of the structure to safety.

According to fire officials, a group of men returning home late from a card party noticed smoke billowing from a basement window and rang in the first alarm.

Within a few minutes flames had spread through the bathrooms and kitchens of apartments above. So rapid was the fire's progress that several mothers had time only to pull their children, still sleeping, from bed and run.

Families whose homes were most seriously affected by the blaze were Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Berg and three children in a basement apartment; Edward Feldman and Jacob Marder, first floor; Samuel O. Silver, second floor, and Harry Scheinfeld and Harold Goodsnyder, third floor.

DEVOTION—Love of the former Louise Astor Van Alen for her late husband, Prince Serge Mdivani, amazed Newport as she was constant visiter to his grave in Berkeley Memorial cemetery.

amazed smart society of Europe and America.

Prince Serge was Louise Van Alen's second husband. Her first was his brother, Prince Alexis Mdivani. That was not a happy union and ended in divorce.

Between Serge and Louise, however, it was a love-match from the start.

KILLED IN MONTH

Their wedding was at Palm Beach, Fla., February 8, 1936.

A scant month later, Prince Serge was killed, riding with his usual dashing recklessness in a hard-fought polo match, at which his bride was a spectator.

She sent his body home to Newport for burial in fashionable Berkeley Memorial cemetery, in nearby Middletown.

Beside his grave, she ordered another grave dug.

"That will be mine," she said. "I want to be by his side, in the end."

Month after month, she went—quietly and alone—to the cemetery to keep vigil at Prince Serge's resting place.

LONG IN MOURNING

She wore mourning long after the usual period.

Dropping out of society completely, she sought to assuage her heartbreak in feverish travel.

Yet from each of her frequent trips across the continent, to Europe, to the tropics, she always returned, unannounced, to visit the grave in Berkeley Memorial cemetery.

Pola Negri, the film beauty, might have been Prince Serge Mdivani's first wife.

Mary McCormic, the opera singer, might have been his second love and his "glamour bride."

But Louise Van Allen Mdivani believed his heart was wholly hers at last.

Today the world knew she was the wife to whom he gave and not from whom he took.

Of the 1938 taxes, $39,968,071 was in corporation levies, $54,875,501 in individual taxes, and $25,675,161 in payroll taxes.

Icy Heroism

NORTHAMPTON, Feb. 2 (AP)—The task of rescuing a sparrow was just part of a day's work for the Northampton fire department.

Mr. Sullivan was the father of Rev. Columba W. Sullivan, S. J., and of Sister Xaveria and Sister Columbiere, of the Order of St. Joseph.

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS
Motion Picture Editor International News Service

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 2.—What an exciting movie job Elsa Maxwell has given Ina Claire for herself! An acting part and technical adviser in "Hotel For Women," which will probably have Claudette Colbert as the star.

The whole idea belongs to Darryl Zanuck and Louella Parsons. Louella O. Parsons is going to New York soon at a gala luncheon being given in the ladies' honor. Among the guests will be highly paid models, career women and others who have made their own way in the big town.

Louella O. Parsons

Miss Parsons returned with her data and wrote a scene for the picture in conjunction with Darrell Ware. It's Zanuck's idea to have Elsa give one of her famous parties in the movie as the party she has been reading about. You may see one in full swing.

Special Camera Plane Used

Flying officers of the United States Naval Air Training Station have expressed keen interest in one of the most modern and unusual pieces of flying equipment in the world, it was learned in recording the aerial scenes for "Wings of the Navy," due soon at the Metropolitan Theater.

The unique aircraft is a special camera plane, fitted up at the Lockheed Aircraft Factory near Los Angeles, and piloted by Capt. Paul Mantz. The Mantz ship recorded the sky adventures of George Brent, John Payne, Regis Toomey, John Litel and the other Hollywood stars on location at the navy air flying base and was manned besides Capt. Mantz at the controls by Elmer Dyer, veteran cinemat grapher specialist in air films.

A Questionnaire to Congress on the Vital Issue of---
PEACE or WAR

GEORGE ROTHWELL BROWN, Washington Correspondent, Hearst Newspapers, Washington, D. C.

Will you please request the members of the Congress of the United States to express their opinions on the various points contained in the following questionnaire, briefly or at length as they see fit, for the information of the public?

The Hearst newspapers will appreciate the privilege of publishing their views.

WILLIAM RANDOLPH HEARST

Should the United States take part in foreign wars?

Do you think the United States should arm for a war of defense?

Should it arm for a war of aggression?

Should it arm for alliance with war-like nations?

Do you think that alliances with war-like nations in war-like periods will or will not eventually lead the United States into war?

Should the United States assume to determine the aggressor nations or to decide the responsibility of war?

Should it proceed to impose economic or military penalties on those nations of whose foreign or domestic policies it disapproves?

Senator Pittman says that these nations we would not attack with arms, "we can starve to death."

Is that the proper procedure for a neutral nation?

Will or will not that policy lead to war?

Congress has the right to declare war.

Should the President be at liberty to precipitate war regardless of the wishes of Congress or of the people?

To prevent undesired war should or should not a foreign war be undertaken only through a referendum vote of the people?

Do you think the American people who are willing to sacrifice their lives and their substance to defend their own land and their own principles should or should not be led either by the President or by the Congress into a war to protect the foreign lands and alien principles of Socialist France, Communist Russia or Imperialist England?

Was the experience of the United States in the last great war beneficial to the world?

If so, in what way?

Was it beneficial to the United States?

If so, in what way?

Did we make the world safe for democracy?

If so, for what democracy, and where?

Are not the basic causes creating war, not only in Europe but in Asia, the fundamental conflict between the autocratic rule of Fascism and the class despotism of Communism?

Should America take sides in this conflict?

If so, which side do you think America should support?

Should the United States enter another great war to make the world safe for Imperialism or for Socialism or for Communism?

Do you think America should or should not mind its own business and protect liberal Americanism and avoid "foreign entanglements" and "undue sympathy" with foreign nations or alien systems of government?

Should or should not this great United States make its own genuine democracy safe and maintain its beneficent influence throughout the world by preserving its own liberty, its own independence, and its own strength and safety?

BURIED TREASURE casts its magic spell upon two young Portsmouth brothers who, with second-hand diving gear and a profound belief in an old legend, hope to recover more than a million dollars in gold supposed to have been lost off the Isles of Shoals.

Of course the odds are overwhelming against the success of the venture.

Men and ships vastly better equipped than these ambitious boys have sought to recover sunken billions and failed.

None the less, we cheer for the brothers and wish them the miracle of luck they deserve.

They may not find gold. But they have found something really important. They have found ROMANTIC ADVENTURE.

CHURCH AND STATE mourn for the Rev. Charles W. Lyons, S. J., 48 years an illustrious priest, dead in Dorchester.

Former president of four colleges—Gonzaga, St. Joseph's of Philadelphia, Boston College and Georgetown—he was a true and practical friend of democratic education.

The mere listing of the names of the men who achieved success material and spiritual because of his inspiration, encouragement and guidance would require every column in this newspaper. These men are his best memorial. In their quest for truth and right Father Lyons' ideals will find immortality.

Adventure Sleuth Irks Japanese

By EDWIN C. HILL

THE TORONTO STAR'S Number One Boy in the Far East, Gordon Sinclair, ran afoul a Japanese [illegible] the other day in Canton.

The incident was certainly not [illegible] Canadian opinion of the Japanese military, and some sort of apology and reparation will be demanded.

THERE'S A STORY back of [illegible] correspondent Gordon Sinclair of the Toronto Star. It was five or six years ago that the managing editor of that fine newspaper thought it might be a good idea to shine up the "Star" with stories of strange peoples and far-away places. So he sent for a young fellow whose work had attracted attention and told him to go and see what was on the other side of the range, as Mr. Kipling put it.

So forth went the bright-eyed adventurer, hungry for color, sensation and all the sights, sounds and scents of the mysterious East. He went to little-known New Guinea.

There Sinclair learned that it was come by seizure and conquest, and the men are slaves or cannibals. He found that tribal warfare, black magic and sacrificial rites reap a grim harvest of human skulls, stuffed and lacquered as household ornaments.

FOR 200 YEARS men have been trying to penetrate the tangled mass of crawling death which is the New Guinea interior. Black magic, devil work, superstition holds all New Guinea and her primitive people in its terrifying grip. The people are afraid of everything, afraid of strange noises, afraid of a shadow, afraid of spooks, gnomes and witches.

ger, Chief [illegible] of England [illegible] ary, had more [illegible] of this weird business as Gordon Sinclair tells his story. A mad fable of a blood-red lake far back in the green hills puzzled the government for years. Mesmerized men, lying from wonder-told doctors that they were being killed by the evil eye, [illegible] their way by the magic [illegible] of the blood-red lake.

The missionary heard of white ghosts who chanted and danced in the dark, and of vampires that sang. He determined to find the blood-red lake and organized an expedition.

He found it. It was as red as blood and surrounded by trees that were all aglow with orchids which gave off a luminous shimmer at night. He took a swim in the lake and was stricken down with burning fever. For six weeks he was delirious and his life was barely saved.

'BUGS' BAER SAYS:

IT WAS in 1925 that a fellow whose name [illegible] was slicker than [illegible] and [illegible] name city lots out where the West begins. When they laid out that subdivision they must have been dividing flatlands out mountain ranges. We paid city prices for getting lost in the country.

THE FELLOW socked us for $5000 for the five lots. And we'll show where we would have been better off [illegible] playing poker. First of all, the five grand would have been gone clean. Second, there would have been some player in the game who would have staked us to breakfast money.

WE had only one real offer for 'em in 14 years. A man wanted to give us 500 bucks for the whole kaboodle.

IF THAT BOOM is due we know a good place for it to start. We only saw the place once since we bought it. We went out there to see how the town was getting on in 1934. A fellow was on the property training bird dogs to retrieve bull-headed eagles.

NECK HOLLOWS

Hollows in the neck bother some members of the beauty clientele. A few minutes spent each day in exercising the neck will be productive of results.

Place the palm of the right hand on the forehead, throw the head forward use pressure with the hand. There will be a hard pull on the muscles of the neck. Relax. Let the chin fall forward. Clasp the hands together at the nape of the neck send the head back slowly, pressing hard with the hands.

CAN MILLIONS BUY ATTRACTIVE WIFE?

What Has Happened:

Tully Clinker, handsome chemist, invents a kiss-proof lipstick for Flora Brent, a co-worker. Berwith Jones, kissing Flora at a dance, discovers the lipstick's merits, realizes his cosmetics firm needs it, and sends Petra Gann, vampish publicity woman, to enveigle Clinker into selling the formula. Miss Gann succeeds, but Flora Brent snatches away the papers. L. E. Stringer, Clinker's employer, sells the formula, and Clinker receives a huge fortune. With the money comes great affection for Petra Gann—an affection which Tully refuses to regard as love. Petra, coming at his apartment, slaps his face—partly in jest, partly in anger. On the spur of the moment, Clinker breaks a date with Petra, invites Flora to dinner and proposes marriage to her.

Now Continue:

Here's Great Chance For Camera Experts

How would you like to be a real newspaper photographer with your work circulated through New England in the Boston Evening American, Daily Record and Sunday Advertiser?

TRIP to World's Fair looks mighty attractive to Martin Sherrett, 83, of Cambridge, so he's entered the Record-American contest for amateur photographers. Here he is warming up his graphic.

Camera Awards

The winners in each city of the Boston Evening American, Boston Daily Record and Boston Sunday Advertiser camera contest will be awarded:

An all-expense trip to and from the New York World's Fair; a sightseeing tour of New York City and the fair, and another entertainment during a three-day visit to New York City, accompanied by a companion or a reporter from the sponsoring local newspaper.

In addition, these 16 city winners will be given 24 hours while at the fair, to make another contest photograph of any subject or section within the glass center, and cash prizes will be awarded as follows

First grand prize	$500
Second prize	250
Third prize	100
Three honorable mention at $50 each	150

B. U. Sorority Rush To Begin Monday

Whitney House Sold Under Foreclosure

By GEORGE HOLLAND

HAVE YOU PAID YOUR LAST YEAR'S income tax? . . . If not, here's a tip . . . A local cleanup squad of collectors has been formed at headquarters of the Bureau of Internal Revenue . . . The boys have been ordered to bring back the cash or the debtors, and in such cases wherein warrants have been issued, the orders are to serve the papers—if necessary . . . Edward T. "Ned" Fitzgerald, nephew of former Mayor John F. Fitzgerald, has been named boss of the squad.

Subway and newsstands cards advertising the publication in a nickel magazine of a new story by the Boston author, J. P. Marquand, attribute to him authorship of the best selling "The Late Charles Apley" . . . The late Mr. Apley's first name was George . . .

Billy Walters, former general manager of New York's Paramount Theatre and Music Hall, is now [illegible] Boston, debating an offer to [illegible] representative of Paul Whiteman and his orchestra . . . Another Boston visitor, Paulyna O'Brien, was being [illegible] during the Radio . . .

Paulyna is the Loomister lass who made so good in the Big Town that she is now chief of Music Corporation's publicity department . . . The Bunny Berigan engagement at The Southland drew Miss O'Brien in this direction . . .

In case you see and hear the Berigaaners you will probably wonder how in the world Eddie Jenkins, who plays the drums like a whirlwind, ever got his folks' permission to stay up so late . . . Eddie's band and vocal [illegible] would get him by as a 14-year-old . . . He's nearly 22 . . .

Lionel Hitchman, who managed the Ritz-Carlton three years ago, is a distinct possibility to move up to the A. F. Keiss managerial job if Sir Arthur becomes prexy of the National Hockey League . . .

Once Over Lightly:

For a lesson in how to dress a shop-window, please take a gander at Filene's "Port of Call" display, an example of good taste and beauty deserved no doubt by William H. McLeod, the advertising director . . .

[illegible] the Copley-Plaza is now ready to [illegible] engagement in Boston . . . A refugee from Hollywood for the time being, Shirley Temple opened a week ago . . . But in the Stork Club Saturday night [illegible] agreed to lounge [illegible] order to cut up a few [illegible] with Ginger Rogers, Clark Gable, [illegible] Mirror and [illegible] Cobb . . . A big [illegible] to be exact . . .

Division Manager H. M. Addison of the local Loew theaters is three-weeking in Miami . . . Benny Davis, who is playing at the Boston, wrote his biggest song hit in collaboration with the late Con Conrad, who once was the husband of Francine Larrimore, starring here also this week . . . The song was "Margie" . . .

Joe Rubin, the local Major Bowes of the jitterbugs, will be taking bows from the Boston stage, too . . . He will introduce some prizes from his jitterbug collection in an elimination contest to peg the jitteriest of the lot . . .

Connee Boswell [illegible] Harris is still playing and dancing at the Latin Quarter . . . The Lambeth Walk . . . By the way, Maestro Harris [illegible] of the local bandleaders and his music so [illegible] . . . Marchand is planning a [illegible] entertainment with [illegible] Plaza Persian Room . . . He calls [illegible] Boston [illegible] Eddie Duchin to the Plaza's select patronage . . .

And there may be some truth to the report that on or about March 15, the Marshardians will take the podium of the Statler Terrace Room where currently Leighton Noble and his excellent unit is holding forth . . .

Meanwhile, Maestro Dudley Manlove is [illegible] Lenox, where [illegible] and the famous chop house [illegible] a Boston [illegible] . . . Dudley is [illegible] than ever . . . The Pool [illegible] at the Bradford [illegible] Manlove [illegible] and got a bit of [illegible] Hawaii [illegible] of the producers plans [illegible] . . .

Austen Lake:

Retort Courteous; Mat Lineage and Chop Suey

MAN THE FIRE-STEP, MEN! Volley at will! Boston's fine, idealistic suckerism has been assailed. They can't do that to us!

When Col. John Kilpatrick of the New York Garden read that Boston grossed $12,886 for the recent Ambers-Paul Jr. fight, he remarked, "That's big money for Boston." Famed for his blunderbuss sayings, the Col. then looked down the length of his patrician nose and said that Boston's simple citizenry do quite well in a rustic way to support so many sport enterprises, but when it comes to financing a world's title fight it is still an Indian village.

AUSTEN LAKE

Smile when you say that Colonel!

What Col. Kil means, of course, is that there are not enough super-suckers to be screened from Boston's small-fry suckers to pay $27.50 for ringside chairs a full rifle shot from the action. The Colonel thinks we are too steeped in New England thrift to permit a proper contempt for money.

But I submit to Colonel John that Boston, and its purlieus, has, within the last four years, divorced itself from New England thrift and made a common law marriage with race track dissipation. Indeed, if it has not out-frittered New York in the prize fight chump-traps, Boston has outspent it 2 for 1 at the horse and dog tracks. And when April comes and the wild whirligigs resume, Boston will be out there squandering again with selfless abandon.

New Yorkers have always been a bit standoffish about their metropolis, but confess a certain cocky about getting less value for their dollars than their country cousins. But, if anybody deserves a citation for emulating the spendthrift example of the Federal Government in spending its way toward prosperity it is Boston under the able leadership of its horse and dog bettors.

I can't imagine Tobin could almost sue Colonel Kilpatrick for saying a thing like that.

Wrestling's Family Tree

LETTERS HAVE A DORCHESTER WRESTLING scrapbook dating to the "good old days" of Steve Casey's mat reign if any.

Tracing the thin, wavering line of the title is like searching the ancestry of some of our Mayflower brahmins. But here it is: Frank Gotch created the first championship by beating Hackenschmidt in 1908. He retired in '13 and Charles Cutler has his picture on the belt. Joe Stecher in '16. Earl Caddock, "Man of 1000 holds," beat Stecher in '17 and only lost back to Stecher in '20 who passed the baubles to Strangler Lewis in '21.

After a few years' tussling with Stecher and Zbyszko, Wayne Munn and Strangler Lewis came up for the third time and just traded, or bartered the doodad as Gus "The Goat" Sonnenberg, who is now experiencing a protective revival. Gus held it until '31 when Ed George beat him. George was outclassed unawares by Lewis, who then lost by a rough decision to Henri Deglane in '33. Deglane then countered, but not to stay, and Lewis' George was dunked by Danno O'Mahony.

Here the records get mixed up! A lot of other mat names were presenting to be sure. Dave Shikat won an elimination tourney and claimed the crown. Then Ali Baba beat him and Strangler Lewis, beat him and the late Jim Browning beat Lewis and Jeannee Londos beat Browning. Event but when the armies of nations united peace, Londos beat Ali Baba to Danno O'Mahony and the two titles were welded into one.

But peace was upset when Shikat kidnaped the crown from O'Mahony and ran off and a welter of law-suits injunctions and counter-suits followed. Shikat thought he'd settled it by marrying the Sultan's princess but the Sultan's wife got mad to learn Dave, who couldn't speak Turkish, had married her.

Pot Boilers

MOST CONSPICUOUS PIECE OF IMPUDENCE is the National Pro Football League's system of drafting college players, who, if they report, are forced to accept the claiming club's offer. Recently the Washington Redskins mailed Davey O'Brien, Texas All-America mediocre a contract. They also included a note reminding him that there are 12,000,000 unemployed in the U. S. A. O'Brien replied, "Count again. There are 12,000,001 now" . . .

Excerpt from a London sport journal, "In the sixth round Rawles complained of a stitch in his side and conceded the match." And just as we, too. He might have gone down and out in the seventh with honors.

Joe Louis Garden optimistically talks of a $500,000 gate when Joe Louis meets Bob Pastor, which would have been mere coupon money in the golden age of Tex Rickard and Jack Kemp. Alas, Joe's a dud, and not altogether scrupulous touch, faded, but even money deal with it. Five largest fight gates were: Sept 22 1926 Tunney-Dempsey $2,564,660; Sept. 23, 1927, Tunney-Dempsey at Polo Grounds, $1,895,733; July 2, 1921, Dempsey-Carpentier $1,789,238 Sept 14, 1923, Dempsey-Firpo, $1,188,603 July 21 1 27 Dempsey-Sharkey, $1,083,529. By comparison the John-son Jeffries battle at Reno on July 4, 1910, drew only $270,775 .

Suffering from bunions and a heavy headcold Max Baer has just visited a chiropodist to have his toes re-surfaced, but refuses to consult a physician about his congested skull. "Nature," says philosophical Maxie, 'takes care of the head. But only an expert can fix the feet."

PICK SONNENBERG TO WIN MAT BOUT

"I'LL GET YOU," chirps Ernie Dusek as he cocks his best Sunday punch. Ernie comes from one of the most famous families in mat history.

DUCK ERNIE! Gus Sonnenberg is coming at you. Climbing slowly but surely up the ladder for the crown he once held, Sonny engages Ernie Dusek tonight at the Boston Garden. Gus must win to stay in the front of the challengers.

Dynamite Gus Sonnenberg, former wrestling champion, rules a slight favorite to upset rough Ernie Dusek, one of Omaha's famous wrestling brothers, when they meet in the main event of Promoter Paul Bowser's all star tournament at the Boston Garden.

sonny boy is hopeful of coming his comeback. But in Ernie he is taking on the toughest gentleman he has faced yet. Ernie is tough and tough and he's been around long enough to know the tricks and how to put them in where they hurt the most. And a heap of that he will have the great satisfaction of knowin' that he plunked Sonny flat on his back the last time they met.

It should be a merry night for Dusek specializes in no holds, but rather punches, and Gus advertises far and wide that he is going to use his flying tackle at every opportunity.

"Yes, I know my tackle was missing when I last met Dusek. He says he blocked it easily. Well, it was off time and I know I looked kind of sloppy that night. But this is another night, and I'm still remembering that the title is just ahead of me again."

It is true that Gus tackle is clicking. All his recent victories have been because of the tackle and it has been cracking down any and all of them.

The semi final should be a free for all when two of the toughest and roughest in the business Rudy Dusek and Rebel Bob Russell battle. Each of course will try to outdo the other new dirty little trick but that will be hard because if there is anything that neither knows it must have been invented late last night.

Preliminaries will include Harry Jacobs vs. Everett Ribbons, Angelo Ostoldi vs. Tom Casey, Frank Brown vs. Ed White and Al Jennings vs. Lord Albert Mills.

A percentage of the gross receipts will be given to President Roosevelt's infantile paralysis fund. One of the foremost boosters for the show and fund to date has been Theodore H. Lockwood, commander in chief of the Mass. Legion, who has purchased a block of 41 seats for his officers and department workers.

Intercity Bouts Lure K. O. Artists

New England fight fans are getting stirred up over the intercity tournament of 24 bouts which the Irish Natives A. A. will stage at the Garden next Monday night, February 6, when five teams of boxers from Nova Scotia and Philadelphia clash with the New England ranks.

Captains and weight classes at championship weights from fly weight to heavyweight will be picked. Seven of the best amateur pugilists in New England have been selected to meet the Nova Scotia team.

The Boston team will be composed of those who have won titles in the various championship tournaments held here during the season.

The team from Nova Scotia will be headed by Jack Hughes, champion of Halifax and Dartmouth, who has been selected to meet the Boston team.

Tape Nova's Arm To Side for Month

SAN FRANCISCO Feb 2 (AP)—Lou Nova, who became a contender for the heavyweight boxing crown by beating Tommy Farr last June, must have his arm taped to his side for two months as a reminder of that fight.

Ray Carlson, Nova's manager said the fighter would have to keep the arm taped for a month. He suffered a pinched muscle in the bout but the seriousness of the injury was not revealed until an X-ray examination yesterday.

Despite his injury, Nova will be in shape for his fight with Max Baer, former titleholder, either on March 17 early in June, Carlson said.

LOVER AND FIGHTER -:- KID McCOY'S OWN STORY

'DOG FIGHTING' DAYS RECALLED BY EX-CHAMP

Kid McCoy, champion boy hobo, has become Kid McCoy, the fighter, having knocked out a professional in St. Paul. He is 17. He beats his way to Columbus, Ind., where he meets Jack Rush, an ardent fight fan, who is chief engineer of the waterworks. The waterworks is a hang-out for hungry fighters, and McCoy joins them. Rush gets him matches, and is much impressed with his natural ability and predicts a great future for him. A friendship of 40 years' standing begins.

So Kid McCoy, with a big ambition, goes home to his folks in Indianapolis, joins the church and the Y. M. C. A. and gets a job with Pete Treeter, a well digger and fight enthusiast, to develop himself for a ring career.

When he is thrown out of the church because he is fighting for money, he heads for Muncie, Ind., a headquarters for shell-game operators and fly-by-night fighters. McCoy is now employed by Henry Ford in Detroit.

Hub Schoolboy Sextets Clash Today

Latin Meets Dorchester In Feature

Rounding the midway mark in the Boston conference, Public Latin makes its bid for first place in the league standings this afternoon against Dorchester high school in the feature contest of the weekly four game session.

The other three tilts find Jamaica Plain pitted against Hyde Park; Roslindale battling Brighton and Charlestown facing East Boston.

Victorious in its only two starts, Latin should enter the second tussle of the afternoon a favorite to whip Dorchester's sextet. The Purple and White six opened the season with a 1-0 triumph over Memorial and followed this up with the surprise of the local season in dumping Commerce by a 2-1 count.

Bob "Red" Radley, newly elected captain, has been the big cog in Charlie Fitzgerald's offensive and this lad will have to be closely covered if the Red and Black hopes to continue on the winning side of the marker.

Dorchester's Buddy Griffin and Wendy Stonehouse combined nicely to hand Trade a setback in its last start and these boys may fire enough pucks to upset the dope. Their Trader whitewash made up for their opening blanking with hopes high for the second victory of the campaign.

With both clubs boasting speedy left wingers, Jamaica Plain and Hyde Park should offer a close fight in the opening fray. Johnny Harney has been the mainstay of the Hyde Park club while Warren Hanrey, scoring three goals in Jamaica's last start, looms as the best prospect on the Duffy squad.

Deadlocked in its two showings, Brighton will probably suffer its first defeat of the year when Charlie Carosella, Roslindale wing, starts flipping shots at the start of the second half.

Charlestown should break into the winner's circle in the nightcap against East Boston which has still to hang up its first scalp.

Eagles Hail Coach Leahy

By WALTER KILEY

Frank W. Leahy, formerly of Notre Dame and Fordham residence, the man who holds the football destinies of Boston College in his coaching might, came, saw and conquered more than 1000 alumni and friends of the Eagles at a huge Varsity Club dinner of welcome at the University Club.

To many of the enthusiastic gallery, it was a case of first impression. After the sincere, straightforward, manly Leahy address, it seemed certain that the new coaching encumbent's fine first impression was to be a lasting one.

From the moment that the South Dakota-born gridiron product opened his brief remarks with the very pertinent—"Fellow Coaches"—he was "in" with his new University Heights brethren.

"I have come to Boston College to succeed and not to fail," he said as the mighty turnout roared approval.

"I'm fully aware of the big job ahead. But I welcome the challenge," he continued.

"It's a great privilege to follow in the footsteps of such former Boston College coaching greats as Charlie Brickley, Major Cavanaugh, Leo Daley, Dinny McNamara, Harry Downes and Gil Dobie.

"I realize, too, that Dobie is handing over to me a team thoroughly coached in football fundamentals.

"While I will attempt to teach an offense which I best know, I will still pattern it to suit my material. But this I do say, that our Boston College football will be interesting football to watch.

"From my earliest youth in the Mid-West, I've read about Boston's colorful history. Now, I'm thrilled to be an adopted son."

Seated at one of the many tables below him were Del Isola and Sarno, two former Fordham linesmen, who were his proteges. Leahy thanked them personally for the part they played in landing him at Boston College.

His closing brought down the house when he said:

"I'm only sorry my old boss at Notre Dame wasn't here tonight to see it all. I know that Boston College is just the kind of school Rockne would have highly recommended to his boys."

Two new games were announced on the schedule for 1940 as given out by Graduate Director John P. Curley. They are Auburn and Kansas State.

The schedule finds a first game date still open. It follows with Florida, Temple, St. Anselm, Auburn, Detroit at Detroit, Boston University, Kansas State and Holy Cross.

Throughout the long and interesting presentation of sweaters and letters to the varsity players of 1939 and the numerals to the regular freshmen of the past year, Coach Leahy was seen to study each and every player with penetrating gaze.

Smiles lit his features as a parade of giants ran the gamut before him, such players as Chet Gladchuck, John Yauchoes of the varsity, Steve Levanitas, Ed Zabilski, Frank Maznicki, Bob Jauron, Henry Maeur, and others of the incoming sophomore squad.

Perhaps the greatest ovation of the night was accorded Brockton is Lou Montgomery, who was affectionately remembered in song entitled "His Bench Days Are Over."

"Boston After Dark" by George Holland, appears every day in the Boston American.

Indians Action Proves Puzzle

EAST LANSING, Mich., Feb. 2 (AP)—Ralph H. Young, athletic director at Michigan State College, expressed himself as "at a loss to understand" the action of the Cleveland Indians in signing Glen Rankin of Detroit, outstanding M. S. C., pitcher.

Young declared he had just returned to the city and had not had time to protest to Judge Kenesaw Mountain Landis, professional baseball "Czar."

"If it's all true," Young said, "I'm wondering how this team does business—taking a boy who has two years left on his college career and influencing him to leave school."

Olympics Face Tough Week-End

The two Olympic hockey clubs of Boston face a busy week-end. The Juniors swing into action on Friday evening against their dearest rivals, the Club Marquette of Providence while their older brothers are slated for two battles with the Valleyfield Braves on Saturday evening and Sunday afternoon at the Garden.

Members of the Junior team are most likely to feel the strain of competition, for three of them are bound to see service with the Seniors on Saturday and Sunday. Coach Harrington made the cold trip to Providence with the Juniors recently to decide who to bring up for the Valleyfield series.

He was delighted with the way the youngsters performed but settled on only one player. Cliff Thompson is the youngster who will be with the Seniors.

Tomorrow's game should be one of the most closely contested battles of the year. The two teams are evenly matched in manpower and ability. The fighting spirit of the Bostonians is what carried them home a winner in Providence Tuesday evening.

The word from Canada is that the Boston protest of the Lachine battle has been thrown out, not because it was not legitimate, but because it was not filed with the O. A. H. A. in time. A receipted money order, a protest fee, in the hands of the Olympic management seems to disprove the league contention. The protest was filed well within the time limit but seems to have gone astray in Canada.

U. S. Net Stars Continue Sweep

KINGSTON, Jamaica, Feb. 2 (AP)—Tennis stars from the United States continued their uninterrupted journey through an international tournament.

Elwood Cooke of Portland, Ore., defeated W. E. Coke, 6—0, 7—5; Mrs. Sarah Palfrey Fabyan of Brookline, Mass., and Miss Katherine Winthrop of Boston beat Mrs. Leyden and Mrs. Poule, 6—4, 6—2; Hal Surface of Kansas City and Miss Winthrop defeated Mr. Dayes and Mrs. Leyden, 6—4, 6—4.

McCarthy Predicts 4th Flag for Yanks

By PAT ROBINSON
International News Service Sports Writer

This man Joe McCarthy is rapidly becoming a menace to the community. Of course, he has been a menace to the American League for several years but we never expected him to imperil the hearts of the sports writers.

The impossible happened today, however, when Joe came right out flatfooted and predicted a fourth straight pennant for his Yankees.

Now you know how Joe is. In his rasher moments he might break down and confess that his world champions were a fair sort of ball club.

YANKS IMPROVED MOVE

So you may imagine the shock to the natives when Joe not only made an unqualified forecast but even unloaded facts and figures to prove six point.

"Who's going to stop us?" said Joe Belligerently, or at least as belligerently as a genial fat man can be. "The Red Sox, Tigers and Indians probably have improved themselves a little but not enough to stop us.

"We've improved more than they have. We'll be a much better ball club than we were last year and we were pretty fair then."

There was a howl of protest at this point because Joe seemed to be reverting to his usual style and the auditors wanted him to keep on punching.

"Okay," Joe agreed. "I'll tell you just where we will be better. Joe Gordon and Lou Gehrig both will show big improvement and they were good enough as they were."

It was intimated that for Gordon to better his second base play he would have to improve on perfection, but Joe disagreed to this.

"Not at all," Joe argued. "He'll be even better, and he'll hit more. And that Gehrig will probably be back to his old form. Crosetti and Rolfe certainly won't be any worse, and as for Bill Dickey—well, what catcher would you put in his place.

"George Selkirk hit only .254 and Tommy Henrich only .270 last season and they'll be away ahead of those figures. And Joe DiMaggio may lead the league in hitting. No telling how good he'll be.

FOUR 20-GAME WINNERS

"I've got four potential 20-game winners—Red Ruffing, Lefty Gomez, Oral Hildebrand and Monte Pearson who's got more stuf fthan anybody in the league.

"Then I've got some new boys to look over. Pitchers like Atley Donald and Joe Beggs and outfielders like Charles eKller and Joe Gallagher. This Gallagher hits a ball like DiMaggio and that's good enough for me.

"And we've got plenty of reserves. Now if we don't run into a bunch of accidents—"

HOLDOUTS HIT CUBS, 7 REGULARS MISSING

CHICAGO, Feb. 2 (INS)—The roster of embryo holdouts on the Chicago Cubs—players who have returned their contracts unsigned,—includes seven regulars, it was revealed today.

Rebellion against 1939 salary terms has infected pitchers Clay Bryant, Jack Russell and Larry French, outfielders Augie Garan and Carl Reynolds, third baseman Stan Hack and first baseman Phil Cavarretta.

Four rookies, it also became known, have balked at contracts offered. The ahe Bill Baker, a catcher from Indianapolis; pitcher Gene Lillard of Los Angeles; first basean Glen Russell of the same club; and pitcher Newel Kimball, a past performer for the Cubs.

Beside these eleven, the Cubs' management admitted that outfielder Joe Marty and Hank Leiber, recently acquired from the New York Giants, are still studying their contracts, probably trying to change the spots.

Pitchers Must Bunt, Says Harris

ORLANDO, Fla., Feb. 2 (AP)—Ability to knock the cover off the ball isn't absolutely essential for a pitcher, but Manager Bucky Harris of the Washington Senators is convinced every moundsman ought to be able to hunt when a roller means a run.

Bringing a score of rookies to the practice field for their first workout today, Harris disclosed a great deal of time will be spent on the art of "laying one down."

"What good's a pitcher that can't bunt?" he demanded.

"He's got to be able to lay one down, hasn't he? It's just as much a part of his work as anything else. Thats the trouble with most pitchers now—they can't bunt."

The workouts here of young pitching and catching prospects a month in advance of the regular spring training season set a precedent for major league ball clubs, it's part of the system of close supervision that Harris and Owner Clark Griffith have mapped out for the mutual benefit of the players and the team.

SCRIBES HONOR DIAMOND STARS

Tonight's the big night, the night when the diamond greats sit over the festive board while New England fandom dines, gapes and admires.

It's to be the third annual dinner of the Boston Chapter of the Baseball Writers Association of America, with a sure-fire sell-out gathering making merry at the Copley Plaza.

The occasion is the culmination of months of planning on the part of the baseball scriveners who promise that the Copley party this evening will be the outstanding production of the winter banquet season.

Magnates, managers, star players and all sorts of nationally known celebrities will respond to the tailored toastmastering efforts of Sports Ed. Vic Jones of the Globe.

Here's just a taste of what the night's offering will be:

Jimmy Foxx of the Red Sox, most valuable player of the American League—

Johnny Vander Meer of the Cincinnati Reds, only pitcher ever to turn in two successive no-hitters—

RICKEY TO ORATE

Buddy Hassett, Bees' new playerthrush from the Bronx—

Branch Rickey, ace artist of speechmaking, principal guest, and general manager of the St. Louis Cards—

Leo "Gabby" Hartnett, Gordon "Mickey" Cochrane, Harold "Pie" Traynor, Leo "Lippy" Durocher and Joe Cronin, each of whose

BUDDY HASSETT
Good Chance

names seem to have a familiar managerial ring—

Bob Quinn, Bees' prexy, and Edward Trowbridge Collins, general manager of the Red Sox.

Two of the large array of players are to be signaled out for special honors.

Our own Jimmy Foxx has been chosen as the outstanding major league performer in Boston for the 1938 season and will be recipient of a beautiful sterling silver plaque, which this year has been dedicated as "Eddie Hurley Trophy" in deference to the prestige brought the game by the former great Boston Record baseball writer and sports columnist.

Vander Meer will receive a trophy new this year, the "Paul Shannon Trophy," a grand sterling silver bowl, named in honor of the late president of the National Baseball Writers' body. Vandy was named for his great feat of hurling his two successive no-hitters.

PLENTY OF JOY

The night's audience grouped around the Copley ballroom tables will be as distinguished and representative of true New England fandom as the head table itself.

For there will be found every man with the love of the diamond game at heart, notables toasting the new era in Boston baseball with the rank and file.

Their will be music and entertainment surpassing anything in the three year background of the Writers' Dinner.

And there'll be joke-making and jibing and a lot of hail-fellow-well-met fun.

But before the night's program has ended, there's bound to be many a real old fashioned toast offered for the success of both the Bees and Red Sox, that they may bring to the old home town a pennant after some score of lean, starving seasons.

Pedens Lead on Vopel's Injury

CLEVELAND, Feb. 2 (AP)—William "Torchy" Peden and Douglas Peden of Victoria, B. C., led the field with a one-lap margin at the eleven-hour mark in Cleveland's annual six-day bicycle race today, going out front after injuries eliminated Heinz Vopel of Germany.

Vopel was forced out after four hours by a fractured left wrist received in a spill. He had been paired with Jules Audy of Montreal who teamed with Germany's Gustav Kilian after his partner's injury. Freddie Ottevaere of Detroit, Kilian's starting partner, dropped out.

LOSE TAX APPEAL

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Feb. 2 (AP)—The Court of Appeals ruled today the Pimlico race track must pay a $9000 daily racing tax under a 1918 law which permits imposition of an extra tax on tracks in areas annexed to Baltimore City from the county. The area in which Pimlico is situated was annexed to the city in 1918. Other tracks in Maryland pay a $6000 daily tax.

U. S. Silly Season On, Cotton Says

GLASGOW, Feb. 2 (AP)—Henry Cotton, answering Gene Sarazen's criticism of British golf pros in general and Cotton in particular, today accused Sarazen of ridiculing British professionals to publicize himself and remarked:

"Gene is out of bounds again."

Criticized by Sarazen yesterday for claiming to be the best golfer in the world and then demanding a guarantee before going to the United States to prove it, Cotton said:

"You can always tell when the American silly season arrives. Sarazen starts it off by insulting somebody. I don't even hold a major title now and never claimed to be the best golfer in the world."

GENE BEHIND TIMES

Cotton, former holder of the British open crown, said Sarazen, was "failing behind the times."

"Ten years ago," he said, "leading American professionals were free lancers. They played in the British open because they knew the British title was worth more to them financially than any other.

"Today I don't rely for my living on winning championships. I have definite year-round commitments and the only reason I demanded $10,000 for a two months trip to the United States was because I would have to make that much to pay my expenses and duplicate my earnings on this side."

MAKES $1000 PER WEEK

Cotton has been making around $1000 a week this winter on a vaudeville circuit. In addition, he just signed a $10,000 contract for representing a golf manufacturing firm this year. He also has signed a four-year contract as pro with the Ashridge Club at a substantial increase in salary.

Outside of Sam Snead there probably is no professional in the world who is making anything like Cotton's annual salary.

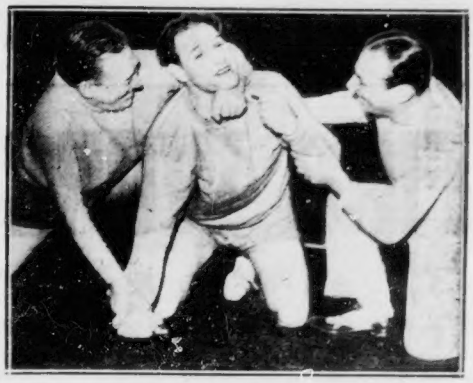
Lounging in a room at Glasgow's famous old Central Hotel, Cotton said he didn't want to get into an argument with Sarazen but resented being charged with pompous statements he said he never made.

Cotton added that he was prepared to go to the United States if somebody would guarantee him at least $6000.

Charlestown Quint Seek 14th Victory

The Boys' Clubs of Boston, Charlestown district, will go after their 14th victory of the season when they face off against the aggressive quintet representing the Lawrence Boys' Club, Saturday at the Eben D. Jordan Memorial Gymnasium, Charlestown.

The local team barely nosed out the Lawrence outfit a month ago in the latter's court when they were minus two of their regular players.



BETTER WIN, LEO! Larry McPhail, general manager of the Brooklyn Dodgers, is showing Leo Durocher, new playing manager of the "Daffiness Dodgers," what will happen next October if Brooklyn doesn't play in the World Series. Artie McGovern is acting referee.
